STEWART IS ACQUITTED OF PERJURY CHARGE

JURY BRINGS IN VERDICT IN SHORT TIME

FREE STANDARD OIL MAN ON EACH OF THREE COUNTS

ON MOTION OF DEFENSE COUN-SEL HE WAS DISCHARGED FROM CUSTODY

Washington, Nov. 20.—(UP)—Robert W. Stewart, chairman of the board of the Standard Oil Co. of Indiana, was acquitted by a jury of nine men and three women in District of Columbia supreme court today of a charge of perjury.

The jury brought in this verdict after only 55 minutes' deliberation freeing Stewart on each of the three counts of the indictment.

On motion of defense counsel Stewart was immediately discharged from custody and his bond was returned.

The judge had instructed the jury that acquittal must be returned if they found that an actual quorum was not present in the senate committee hearing before which, according to the government's charges, Stewart told two different stories concerning Continental Oil bonds.

Stewart shook hands with each juror and then went to his hotel to prepare for return to Chicago probably tomorrow.

The three women jurors greeted Stewart, patting him on the back.

Washington, Nov. 20.—The government's perjury case against Robert W. Stewart, Indiana Standard Oil Company chairman, was termed "filmy and palpably weak" by Defense Attorney Frank J. Hogan in his closing argument to the jury of three women and nine men here today.

U. S. Attorney Leo A. Rover took less than half an hour in his summation and Hogan contended the brevity of Rover's argument showed the weakness of the government's case. The case will go to the jury this afternoon.

Rover asserted the government had shown Stewart deliberately falsified his testimony before the senate Teapot Dome committee last February 2 and 3 to keep from divulging his receipt of a one-fourth share of the $3,000,000 in Liberty bond profit made by the Continental Trading Company in a 1921 oil deal.

Rover quoted Stewart's testimony and said the oil magnate perjured himself by saying he had nothing to do with the Continental deal, and personally did not profit thereby. Rover praised Stewart's intellect, said he was a skillful lawyer, and he purposely evaded, refused to answer and finally answered falsely the questions pressed on him by the senate committee.

Hogan said this case was persecution, not prosecution, and referred to the contempt charge brought against Stewart, on which he was acquitted last June.

"A couple of politicians and sensational yellow journalism" he said were responsible for this prosecution.

TEACHERS BALK AT WORKING WITHOUT PAY

Pottsville, Pa., Nov. 20.—(UP)—More than 350 pupils of the new Philadelphia grade schools are enjoying a holiday because their teachers have refused to work until they are paid. Some of the teachers have almost two years salary due them, it was said.

Directors of the school board hope to get temporary relief from state funds. No classes have been held this week.

GRANGE SETTLES PATERNITY CHARGE FOR $900 CASH

Chicago, Nov. 20.—(UP)—Harold "Red" Grange has settled out of court with Miss Helen Flozak, who charged that Grange is the father of her red-haired baby. It was understood Grange paid $900 to have the suit dismissed.

Red said he was pleased with the settlement but contended the charges were a frameup.

Miss Flozak did not appear in court. The baby, Haroldine, now 7 months old, also was absent. The girl's mother was represented by Mrs. Mary Quinn, her aunt.

Mrs. Quinn refused to reveal the exact amount of the settlement but $900 was the sum said to have been agreed on at a conference of the judge and attorneys recently.

Flood Weary People Engage in Reconstruction

20 PASSENGERS INJURED, STREET CARS COLLIDE

Pittsburgh, Pa., Nov. 20.—(UP)—After a wild dash of four blocks down hill, a street car carrying nearly a score of passengers collided with another car today at Homestead. More than 20 passengers were injured, some seriously.

The brakes apparently failed and the crew lost control of the car. Men fought their way to the controls in a vain effort to bring the car to a stop. Women clutched the seats in panic and several tried to leap from the car.

The car was not stopped until it collided, near the foot of the hill, with a trolley on the East Liberty and Homestead route.

NEW YORK POLICE JUBILANT

POLICE LEARN THAT MRS. RUTH
KEYES STAYED AT HOTEL
NIGHT OF SHOOTING

By MAX BUCKINGHAM

New York, Nov. 20.—Mrs. Ruth Keyes, blonde artists' model from Chicago, will arrive here sometime today or tomorrow to tell what she knows about the murder of Arnold Rothstein.

What she knows may not be much but police were jubilant today because even that much progress had been made toward a solution of the mysterious shooting of New York's best known gambler.

If she arrives today, it probably will help the New York police force out of an embarrassing situation. Yesterday Mayor James J. Walker extended his "period of grace" until today after being assured by detectives that an important development was pending.

Walker has threatened to make the police "publicly admit defeat" unless they solve the Rothstein case by tonight or at least get an important clue.

Rothstein was shot after he had been summoned to the Park Central hotel, presumably to discuss the settlement of a gambling debt.

Police learned Mrs. Keyes was staying at the hotel on the night of the shooting and that she checked out the next day. They also learned that four men were in the room from which Rothstein emerged wounded. One of them was believed to be George McManus, whose overcoat was found in the room.

Meanwhile, federal authorities promised action. They have been investigating the murder in connection with a report that Rothstein was connected with a band of international drug smugglers.

CENTER OF UNIVERSE HAS BEEN DISCOVERED

Schenectady, N. Y., Nov. 20.—(UP)—The center of the universe has been discovered—47,000 light years away from the earth—Prof. Harlow Shapley, Harvard astronomer, told the National Academy of Sciences.

It is part of a mass of nucleus in the Milky way, which is shaped like two plates placed face to face, some 200,000 light years across at the equator.

The nucleus, between the plates, is about 31,000 light years in thickness, and the solar system—the sun and its planets—is a mere speck outside this nucleus and just short of the edge of the plates.

A light year is the distance light would travel in a year at the rate of 186,000 miles per second.

Shapley said that in the study of the universe's center about 1,000 new variable stars were found.

3 MEN MAROONED ON BARGE WADE TO SHORE AND ESCAPE

Buffalo, Nov. 20.—(UP)—After being tossed about the waves of Lake Erie for a night three men riding two barges escaped early today when a 50-mile an hour wind carried the barges near shore at a point eight miles from Buffalo. The men waded to safety when the craft grounded, according to the coast guard.

Joint Freight Rate Schedule Instituted For State's 30 Motor Truck Lines, Operative

BY RAILROAD AND WAREHOUSE COMMISSION

DECISION SEEN AS EFFORT TO COMBAT FARGO FREIGHT RATE DECISION

COMMISSION DECLARES JOINT RATES ARE JUST AND REASONABLE

St. Paul, Nov. 20.—(UP)—The Minnesota railroad and warehouse commission today gave its approval to a joint freight rate schedule for the state's 30 motor truck lines.

Although the decision was seen as another effort to combat the so-called Fargo freight rate decision, the commission declared that the joint rates were "just, reasonable and non-discriminatory" and would not be unfair to the competitive rail carriers.

Under the joint rate schedule freight transported over two or more of the truck lines may be carried at 90 per cent of the local rate over one line. The request for such a rate was filed by 23 of the truck lines on August 28.

In the decision the commission pointed out that it is not essential that a necessity for the joint rate be proven as stated by northwestern railroads, during a recent protest hearing, since the new rate is not unfair.

When the railroads objected to the rate as announced in the tariffs filed Aug. 28 by the truck operators, the commission suspended the joint rates pending a hearing Sept. 27. Since then, however, the suspension of the rate had been lifted in several instances.

TAXI DRIVER IS TREATED ROUGH

Albert Lea, Nov. 20.—(UP)—Southern Minnesota police today sought two men in a taxicab which was stolen from James Thurston, St. Paul driver, after he had been kidnapped, robbed and thrown from the machine near this city.

The taxi driver said he had been hailed by the two men in downtown St. Paul last night, robbed and forced to lie in the bottom of his cab during the ride to Albert Lea.

Senator Borah Seeking to Repay Harry Sinclair Contribution to Campaign

Washington, Nov. 20.—(UP)—Senator Borah of Idaho is entertaining a suggestion that he promote the idea of using the surplus accumulated in the Hoover-Curtis campaign to pay back to Harry Sinclair, the oil magnate, some $160,000 he contributed to the republican national committee in 1921.

Borah declined today to say what he would do about the matter but indicated he would not drop his efforts to have the money repaid.

Hollywood, Calif., Nov. 20.—(UP)—Al Jolson, blackface "mammy" songster, nurses a pair of sore knuckles today at Palm Springs, the result of a fistle encounter with an unidentified man here. The affair occurred at an exclusive hotel here last Friday, it was learned today.

"A man at the next table made remarks derogatory to my wife, to me and to my race," Jolson said, "so I hit him in the eye."

SEN. SHIPSTEAD RECEIVED VERY REMARKABLE VOTE

GREATEST MAJORITY OF ANY CANDIDATE FOR OFFICE IN NOVEMBER ELECTION

FINAL UNOFFICIAL RETURNS
MADE PUBLIC BY SECRE-TARY OF STATE

St. Paul, Nov. 20.—(UP)—Sen. Henrik Shipstead received the largest vote and the greatest majority of any candidate for office in the November elections, according to final unofficial returns made public today by Mike Holm, secretary of state.

The farmer-labor incumbent's total from the 3,762 precincts in the state was 665,169 as compared to 342,992 for Arthur E. Nelson, republican, and 9,380 for Vincent R. Dunne, workers' party candidate.

Shipstead, therefore, had a majority of 312,797 over both his opponents and a plurality of 322,177 over Nelson.

Herbert Hoover's unofficial plurality over Governor Smith was 164,526 since the republican presidential nominee received 560,977 votes and Smith 396,451.

Governor Theodore Christanson likewise made a sweep of his race with Ernest Lundeen, farmer-labor, Minneapolis, and Andrew Nelson, democrat, Duluth. The governor was given 549,857 votes; Lundeen, 227,193, and Nelson, 213,734.

Amendment No. 1, which calls for diversion of one-third of the gasoline tax from the trunk highways to state road and bridge fund, was adopted apparently with a majority of only 7,000. The amendment received 542,796 affirmative votes and 346,109 negative votes.

Amendment No. 2, authorizing the legislature to fix stockholders' liability in Minnesota corporations was defeated. It received 506,065 favorable votes or 29,000 less than the necessary majority.

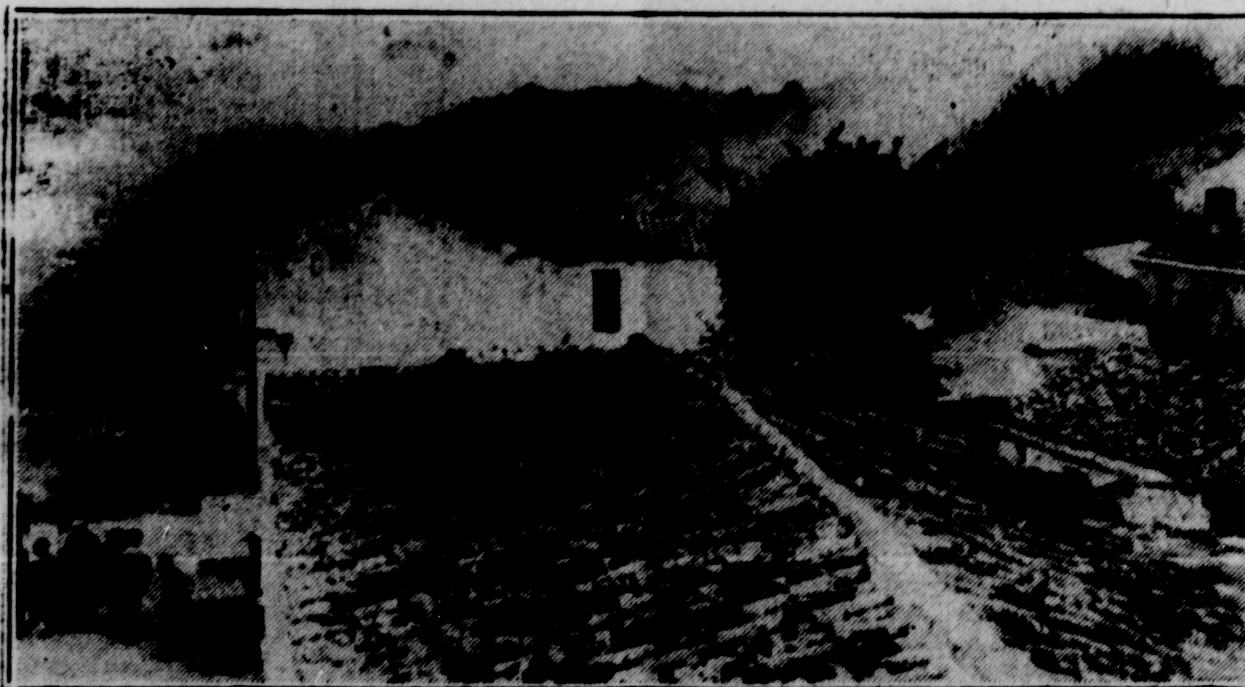

Republican candidates for other state offices all received large majorities.

Miss Constance, 42, was clubbed to death last summer as she was reuniting home from the university library. Insanity was advanced as Shanks' defense.

LEAKY GAS HEATERS BLAMED FOR DEATHS OF 5

Los Angeles, Nov. 20.—(UP)—Gas heaters that leaked today were held responsible for the deaths of five persons here yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Walsh, recently of Detroit, were found dead in bed, overcome by fumes from a gas heater. Archie and Seymour Larson, brothers, and W. E. Todd were found dead in a Culver City house, apparently victims of leaking gas.

Physicians stated Archie Larson had been dead a day or more before the others which may result in a probe of the deaths.

MAY PLACE DISASTER BLAME ON SHIP CAPTAIN

LATTER, DEAD UNDER WAVES, CAN NEVER SPEAK IN OWN DEFENSE

SET DOWN AS ONE OF STRANG-
EST SHIP MASTERS IN MAR-
TIME HISTORY

New York, Nov. 20.—(UP)—Four days of testimony have rounded out the story of the Vestris' last voyage and today it appeared that the blame for the disaster might be placed squarely on Capt. William J. Carey, who never will be able to speak in his own defense.

Today, Federal Attorney Charles H. Tuttle will question passengers on the ship that went down off the Virginia Capes carrying 114 persons to death. On the opening day of the hearing, passengers on the Vestris framed bitter accusations against Carey and the crew of the Lamport and Holt liner.

It seems inevitable that Carey will be set down in maritime history as one of the strangest ship masters who ever stood on the deck of a soggy hull. The investigation has brought out these facts about him:

He did not send out an SOS until there was no hope of saving his ship.

He paced the slanting deck of the Vestris, waving aside lifebelts, until the vessel was sucked down into the Atlantic.

He received warning from his chief officer that the Vestris was settling into the sea, but at 4:56 A. M. on the day the Vestris sank he allowed a wireless to be sent to the S. S. Voltaire that "he" had nothing to communicate.

Witnesses have sworn that Carey did not have his mind on his job during the last frenzied hours that the Vestris rode the waves. He seemed to be absent-minded, they said.

Radiograms introduced as exhibits at the hearing yesterday brought out that the Lamport and Holt line was not delaying the SOS because it wanted to save salvage fees.

The radio log of the S. S. Voltaire produced yesterday, showed that the first intimation the sister ship had that the Vestris was in trouble came at 10:30 A. M. Monday. At that time the Vestris sent this message to the Voltaire:

"Please rush at full speed to our aid immediately."

The wireless evidence showed that the Italian steamship Giorgio Olshen was only 35 miles away from the Vestris, that she received the SOS and that, for some unexplained reason, did not go to the aid of the sinking ship.

BROKAW DIVORCE CASE IS AIRED AT CARSON CITY, NEV.

Carson City, Nev., Nov. 20.—(UP)—The divorce suit of Clifford V. Brokaw, New York millionaire real estate operator, against his wife, Mrs. Minnie Brokaw, entered its second session today.

Brokaw, who testified he was worth between seven and eight million dollars, said his wife was cruel to him, called him names and threatened him.

Mrs. Brokaw is contesting the case, having refused a compromise offer of $1,000,000.

MISSOURI AND KANSAS RIVERS ARE SUBSIDING

PEOPLE CLEANING SLIME AND MUD FROM THEIR HOMES

TRAIN SCHEDULE TIE-UP IS DE-CLARED WORST IN HISTORY

Kansas City, Nov. 20.—(UP)—A flood weary people turned today to the task of cleaning the slime and mud from their homes as rivers in Missouri and Kansas went back into their channel, slowly giving up the land and property they had seized.

Relief agencies were at work and rehabilitation work was getting underway. Reports from St. Louis said midwestern headquarters of the Red Cross had sent disaster experts to view the situation at Winfield, Kas.; Eldorado, Kas.; Paola, Kas.; Ottawa, Kas.; and Kansas City.

Thirteen were known dead while it was feared the waters had claimed another life as search continued for Charles Culbertson, a farm hand, who has been missing near Winfield, Kas.

Although train schedules were yet in disorder in both states, railroad officials believed the tangle would be unsnarled by tomorrow night. The tie-up was described as the worst in history. Telephone and telegraph service also was crippled.

Relief workers were taking precautions against disease, an ally of floods. Conditions were believed to be under control at Ottawa, Kas., where there is now plenty food and drinking water.

Cooper county, Missouri, was still menaced by the waters today as the Missouri river caused Blackwater and Lamine river to overflow into the small towns of Blackwater, Nelson and Lamine. The worst flood in northeast Missouri for the fall period in half a century had reached its crisis last night and the rivers were again giving back 3,000 acres.

The Walnut and Arkansas rivers at Arkansas City, Kas., and the Verdigris river at Independence, Kas., were rapidly falling. A levee going out at Marion City, Mo., had flooded about 6,000 acres of land but the flood had reached its crest there also.

Chicago, Nov. 20.—Sixteen dead, several thousand homeless and property damage running well over $10,000,000, were indicated today in reports from the flooded areas of Kansas, Missouri, Illinois and Kentucky.

Thirteen of the deaths occurred in Kansas and three in Kentucky, where tributaries were overflowing their banks in the worst November floods this region ever has experienced.

Levees crumbled at Quincy, Ill., releasing waters of the Mississippi upon 12,000 acres of rich bottom lands on both the Missouri and Illinois sides of the stream at that point.

The Missouri river was racing down across Missouri from Kansas City to St. Louis and going out of its banks at many points.

In Kentucky the Cumberland and Kentucky rivers inundated parts of five counties in the eastern part of the state, drowning three men at Terjay, where a bridge was carried away by driftwood.

South central Kansas, in the region of Augusta, Winfield and Arkansas City, was counting its losses after the receding of the waters of the Walnut and Arkansas rivers.

Weather bureau predictions today called for cloudy but warmer in the midwest for the balance of the week.

Reports from the south said the first cold snap of the season has struck the Carolinas, Virginia, Alabama, Tennessee and Georgia. Near freezing temperatures were experienced in all five states.

Washington, Nov. 20.—Six hundred persons in Harlan, Ky., were made homeless by the flood waters of the Cumberland river. Red Cross headquarters here was advised today.

Asbury Cecil, representative of the Red Cross in Cincinnati, O., has been ordered to Harlan to make a survey of the situation.

Radiograms introduced as exhibits at the hearing yesterday brought out that the Lamport and Holt line was not delaying the SOS because it wanted to save salvage fees.

The radio log of the S. S. Voltaire produced yesterday, showed that the first intimation the sister ship had that the Vestris was in trouble came at 10:30 A. M. Monday. At that time the Vestris sent this message to the Voltaire:

"Please rush at full speed to our aid immediately."

The wireless evidence showed that the Italian steamship Giorgio Ohlsen was only 35 miles away from the Vestris, that she received the SOS and that, for some unexplained reason, did not go to the aid of the sinking ship.

MISSOURI AND KANSAS RIVERS ARE SUBSIDING

PEOPLE CLEANING SLIME AND MUD FROM THEIR HOMES

TRAIN SCHEDULE TIE-UP IS DECLARED WORST IN HISTORY

Kansas City, Nov. 20.—(UP)—A flood weary people turned today to the task of cleaning the slime and mud from their homes as rivers in Missouri and Kansas went back into their channel, slowly giving up the land and property they had seized.

Relief agencies were at work and rehabilitation work was getting underway. Reports from St. Louis said midwestern headquarters of the Red Cross had sent disaster experts to view the situation at Winfield, Kas.; Eldorado, Kas.; Paola, Kas.; Ottawa, Kas.; and Kansas City.

Thirteen were known dead while it was feared the waters had claimed another life as search continued for Charles Culbertson, a farm hand, who has been missing near Winfield, Kas.

Although train schedules were yet in disorder in both states, railroad officials believed the tangle would be unsmarred by tomorrow night. The tie-up was described as the worst in history. Telephone and telegraph service also was crippled.

Relief workers were taking precautions against disease, an ally of floods. Conditions were believed to be under control at Ottawa, Kas., where there is now plenty food and drinking water.

Cooper county, Missouri, was still menaced by the waters today as the Missouri river caused Blackwater and Lamine river to overflow into the small towns of Blackwater, Nelson and Lamine. The worst flood in northeast Missouri for the fall period, in half a century had reached its crisis last night and the rivers were again giving back 3,000 acres.

The Walnut and Arkansas rivers at Arkansas City, Kas., and the Verdigris river at Independence, Kas., were rapidly falling. A levee going out at Marion City, Mo., had flooded about 6,000 acres of land but the flood had reached its crest there also.

Chicago, Nov. 20.—Sixteen dead, several thousand homeless and property damage running well over $10,000,000, were indicated today in reports from the flooded areas of Kansas, Missouri, Illinois and Kentucky.

Thirteen of the deaths occurred in Kansas and three in Kentucky, where tributaries were overflowing their banks in the worst November floods this region ever has experienced.

Levees crumbled at Quincy, Ill., releasing waters of the Mississippi upon 12,000 acres of rich bottom lands on both the Missouri and Illinois sides of the stream at that point.

The Missouri river was racing down across Missouri from Kansas City to St. Louis and going out of its banks at many points.

In Kentucky the Cumberland and Kentucky rivers inundated parts of five counties in the eastern part of the state, drowning three men at Terjay, where a bridge was carried away by driftwood.

South central Kansas, in the region of Augusta, Winfield and Arkansas City, was counting its losses after the receding of the waters of the Walnut and Arkansas rivers.

Weather bureau predictions today called for cloudy but warmer in the Midwest for the balance of the week.

Reports from the south said the first cold snap of the season has struck the Carolinas, Virginia, Alabama, Tennessee and Georgia. Near freezing temperatures were experienced in all five states.

Washington, Nov. 20.—Six hundred persons in Harlan, Ky., were made homeless by the flood waters of the Cumberland river. Red Cross headquarters here was advised today.

Asbury Cecil, representative of the Red Cross in Cincinnati, O., has been ordered to Harlan to make a survey of the situation.

Court Allows Amendment of Plaintiffs; Defense Asks Additional Time

SUIT AGAINST BANK

Edward Preble Charges Alienation of Wife's Affections; Conkin Sentenced

In the Forsberg vs. First National bank of Brainerd case yesterday the plaintiffs because of official inspection of the roof of the bank building last Saturday and the information thereby, desired to amend their complaint to show that the bank negligently constructed cement shoulders on the roof cornice over the barber shop stairway so that the water would not drip on the basement stairs and that these shoulders held the snow and ice on the roof cornice and when it melted there was an unnatural flow of water and drip from the cornice above to the sidewalk just south of the south railing of the stairway and which water froze and caused the ice ridges and the defect in the sidewalk where Mrs. Emma Forsberg fell.

The court allowed the amendment but because of the amendment the defendant desired additional time to prepare for the trial. So the defense was given 20 days to answer, the jury dismissed, and the case was continued to be tried during this term when the court meets in January as it is expected that the court will soon adjourn to that time.

Alienation Suit Opens

Shortly before noon today Basil T. Heath, attorney for the plaintiff, announced that the plaintiff rests in the suit of Edward E. Preble vs. Robert Hopkins, charging alienation of wife's affections, and for which the plaintiff asks $10,000 damages.

The complaint as alleged by the plaintiff follows:

"That on the first day of March 1928, at Brainerd, the plaintiff was married to Louisa Jane Preble and they have ever since been and now are husband and wife.

"That while plaintiff was living with Louisa Jane Preble as her husband, enjoying her society, affection and services, defendant well knowing that Louisa Jane Preble was plaintiff's wife, wilfully and maliciously alienated the affections of Louisa Jane Preble from plaintiff and induced her to desert the plaintiff on the 13th day of September, 1928 and enticed her away from the plaintiff's residence at Cross Lake Dam in Crow Wing county to a separate residence at or near Trommald and has ever since detained and harbored her there against the consent of the plaintiff and his efforts to persuade her to return to his residence and has thereby deprived plaintiff of her society, affection and services and caused plaintiff great distress of mind, all to his damage of $10,000."

G. S. Swanson is attorney for the defendant. The defense presented evidence this afternoon denying allegations made in the defense, asserting that Mrs. Preble was not induced to desert her husband but that she left the home of her husband of her own free will.

Robert Hopkins who was the first witness called by the defense testified that he and the plaintiff were cousins and that he had accompanied the plaintiff and his wife to dances but that he had never been over friendly with the plaintiff's wife. The plaintiff's wife had left her home to live with his parents but he had not induced her to do so, Hopkins stated.

W. T. Conkin Sentenced

W. T. Conkin who was found guilty of assault in the third degree at his trial conducted during this session of district court was sentenced yesterday afternoon to 45 days in the county jail without option of a fine.

INDIAN SUMMER IS A COY MAIDEN

FROM all accounts Indian Summer appears to be a coy maiden. Sometimes she visits the Brainerd Lake Region and sometimes she fails to put in an appearance. Last year we saw little of her, as we started to shovel coal in the furnace early in October.

A writer on this subject, an authority, says that there is an erroneous belief that Indian summer is a definite period occurring more or less regularly every autumn. This idea is not based on accurate meteorological observations, according to the Weather bureau of the United States Department of Agriculture. Indian summer is the name applied in this country to a period of mild fall weather following a spell of unseasonably cold weather known as "squaw winter."

As a matter of fact, Indian summer is not a fixed season in the calendar, but varies in date and duration. In many years it is intermittent; that is, there may be several Indian summers in one autumn. Strictly speaking, Indian summer is not a season at all, but merely a type of weather in contrast to the usual weather for fall or early winter. Thoreau, in notes on weather conditions at Concord, Mass., from 1851 to 1860, records the occurrence of Indian summer on dates ranging from September 27 to December 13.

In Europe as well as in this country it is popularly believed that a renewal of mild weather occurs every autumn, and the dates of its supposed occurrence are more definitely fixed than is the case in America. The period is associated with the names of various saints who have fixed dates in the ecclesiastical calendar. The mild period is accordingly known in different parts of Europe as "St. Martin's summer," "St. Luke's summer," or "St. Michael's summer," and tradition fosters the idea that it is always mild and warm about the time of these various saints' days. Climatological facts, however, do not always check up with this belief.

USING THE SCHOOL HOUSE

IN many country communities it is becoming more and more the custom to make use of school buildings for a variety of helpful purposes, in addition to that for which they are primarily intended, says the Hawley Herald.

Where no other building is available, the school house affords a convenient place for pleasant and profitable gatherings, such as men's and women's clubs, boys' and girls' clubs, debating societies, singing, public speaking, entertainments and the like.

While practically every school house is utilized for some of these purposes, in many communities a complete winter program is planned, so as to make it a regular social center, around which all neighborhood activities revolve.

This tends to foster a spirit of co-operation and neighborliness, which is extremely beneficial. With the advent of radio, these gatherings may have music and other features of broadcast to enliven the evening, at little expense.

By systematically using these means so readily at hand, the country school house may greatly contribute to the attractiveness of rural life.

WEALTH IN CORN BELT

At the little town of Iowa City two weeks ago the attendance at the Iowa-Minnesota football game numbered 30,000. If tickets averaged only $2 apiece, then admissions alone cost the fans $60,000. Add to that wear and tear on automobiles, gasoline, railroad fares and sundry necessary expenses, not to mention the unnecessary ones, and you have a bill for the game that must be well above $100,000. When people can turn out like that to a football game, does it look like all the corn belt states were on the verge of bankruptcy?

Then note that 65,000 attended the Michigan-Wisconsin game—they're not busted in Wisconsin and Michigan, either, evidently.—Warren Register.

GOOD WILL

THE president-elect may be expected to do the unexpected and common sense things, says the Anoka Herald.

This is indicated by his plan of spending the next two months on a good will journey to the nations of South America.

Why has no president-elect ever thought of that?

By such a trip he can not only cement the feeling of good will engendered by Colonel Lindbergh but he can also gain first-hand information regarding problems of mutual interest which will help wonderfully in the promotion of trade relations.

And, equally important, he will have two months during which he can plan his cabinet and chart his immediate course of action along the lines of his platform, his agreements and his ideals.

SHORTER ELECTION HOURS

SECRETARY OF STATE MIKE HOLM has joined the fight for shorter election hours, quicker reports by county canvassing boards and other election machinery improvement.

Holm declared at St. Paul that he believed the booths could be closed at an earlier hour without injustice to the voters and that the state canvassing board could make its report much sooner by faster action on the part of county canvassing boards.

NOT MANY WINNERS

THE Democratic party does not boast of many winning candidates, in fact only two candidates put up by the party in 65 years have been successful in winning elections.

These two were Cleveland and Wilson. Cleveland was elected two different terms which were not successive. Wilson was elected two successive terms.

PERMIT to operate a motor truck line between Brainerd and Aitkin has been issued to Cesar Appino of Ironton by the Minnesota Railroad and Warehouse Commission. The route is 33 miles long and will furnish service to Ironton, Crosby and Deerwood in addition to the terminal points.

INDIAN SUMMER IS A COY MAIDEN

FROM all accounts Indian Summer appears to be a coy maiden. Sometimes she visits the Brainerd Lake Region and sometimes she fails to put in an appearance. Last year we saw little of her, as we started to shovel coal in the furnace early in October.

A writer on this subject, an authority, says that there is an erroneous belief that Indian summer is a definite period occurring more or less regularly every autumn. This idea is not based on accurate meteorological observations, according to the Weather bureau of the United States Department of Agriculture. Indian summer is the name applied in this country to a period of mild fall weather following a spell of unseasonably cold weather known as "squaw winter."

As a matter of fact, Indian summer is not a fixed season in the calendar, but varies in date and duration. In many years it is intermittent; that is, there may be several Indian summers in one autumn. Strictly speaking, Indian summer is not a season at all, but merely a type of weather in contrast to the usual weather for fall or early winter. Thoreau, in notes on weather conditions at Concord, Mass., from 1851 to 1860, records the occurrence of Indian summer on dates ranging from September 27 to December 13.

In Europe as well as in this country it is popularly believed that a renewal of mild weather occurs every autumn, and the dates of its supposed occurrence are more definitely fixed than is the case in America. The period is associated with the names of various saints who have fixed dates in the ecclesiastical calendar. The mild period is accordingly known in different parts of Europe as "St. Martin's summer," "St. Luke's summer," or "St. Michael's summer," and tradition fosters the idea that it is always mild and warm about the time of these various saints' days. Climatological facts, however, do not always check up with this belief.

USING THE SCHOOL HOUSE

In many country communities it is becoming more and more the custom to make use of school buildings for a variety of helpful purposes, in addition to that for which they are primarily intended, says the Hawley Herald.

Where no other building is available, the school house affords a convenient place for pleasant and profitable gatherings, such as men's and women's clubs, boys' and girls' clubs, debating societies, singing, public speaking, entertainments and the like.

While practically every school house is utilized for some of these purposes, in many communities a complete winter program is planned, so as to make it a regular social center, around which all neighborhood activities revolve.

This tends to foster a spirit of co-operation and neighborliness, which is extremely beneficial. With the advent of radio, these gatherings may have music and other features of broadcast to enliven the evening, at little expense.

By systematically using these means so readily at hand, the country school house may greatly contribute to the attractiveness of rural life.

WEALTH IN CORN BELT

At the little town of Iowa City two weeks ago the attendance at the Iowa-Minnesota football game numbered 30,000. If tickets averaged only $2 apiece, then admissions alone cost the fans $60,000. Add to that wear and tear on automobiles, gasoline, railroad fares and sundry necessary expenses, not to mention the unnecessary ones, and you have a bill for the game that must be well above $100,000. When people can turn out like that to a football game, does it look like all the corn belt states were on the verge of bankruptcy?

Then note that 65,000 attended the Michigan-Wisconsin game—they're not busted in Wisconsin and Michigan, either, evidently.—Warren Register.

GOOD WILL

THE president-elect may be expected to do the unexpected and common sense things, says the Anoka Herald.

This is indicated by his plan of spending the next two months on a good will journey to the nations of South America.

Why has no president-elect ever thought of that?

By such a trip he can not only cement the feeling of good will engendered by Colonel Lindbergh but he can also gain first-hand information regarding problems of mutual interest which will help wonderfully in the promotion of trade relations.

And, equally important, he will have two months during which he can plan his cabinet and chart his immediate course of action along the lines of his platform, his agreements and his ideals.

SHORTER ELECTION HOURS

SECRETARY OF STATE MIKE HOLM has joined the fight for shorter election hours, quicker reports by county canvassing boards and other election machinery improvement.

Holm declared at St. Paul that he believed the booths could be closed at an earlier hour without injustice to the voters and that the state canvassing board could make its report much sooner by faster action on the part of county canvassing boards.

NOT MANY WINNERS

THE Democratic party does not boast of many winning candidates, in fact only two candidates put up by the party in 65 years have been successful in winning elections.

These two were Cleveland and Wilson. Cleveland was elected two different terms which were not successive. Wilson was elected two successive terms.

PERMIT to operate a motor truck line between Brainerd and Aitkin has been issued to Cesar Appino of Ironton by the Minnesota Railroad and Warehouse Commission. The route is 33 miles long and will furnish service to Ironton, Crosby and Deerwood in addition to the terminal points.

W. A. LAIDLAW of St. Paul, secretary of the Northern Pacific Benevolent association, was re-elected treasurer of the Minnesota Public Health association at the organization's twenty-first anniversary meeting in Minneapolis. Mr. Laidlaw is well known in Brainerd.

Government authorities have found that the common ragweed is to be found in some parts of Colorado. The great ragweed is also found in a few sections of the Pacific and Mountain states. The western ragweed is so common in some parts of California that it is an important factor in hay fever in that state. The most important hay-fever weeds of the Pacific and Mountain states are the wormwoods.

BRUNDAGE MAY SUCCEED MURRAY HULBERT

LATTER NEW YORK MAN CLOSING HIS 4TH TERM AS PRESIDENT

COLLEGE FACTION IN A NEAR CLASH WITH AMATEUR ATHLETIC LEADERS

By GEORGE KIRKSEY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

New York, Nov. 20.—Peace and harmony existed today between the college and amateur factions of the Amateur Athletic Union as the fortieth annual convention went into its final day at the Waldorf Astoria hotel.

With Avery Brundage, 38-year-old Chicago contractor, slated to succeed Murray Hulbert of New York, who is now closing his fourth term as president, the western conference, which has long been "at odds" with the A. A. U., was expected to be drawn closer to the amateur body.

A serious internal clash was narrowly averted in the opening day's session between the college faction, led by Gustavus T. Kirby, past president of the A. A. U., and head of the I. C. A., on behalf of eastern colleges, and amateur athletic leaders.

Kirby's resolution to permit a college or university maintaining a proper system of amateur standards to certify the amateur status of its athletes for A. A. U. competition was passed only after two defeats and two revisions.

The amateur leaders objected to the resolution on the ground that professionalism might creep into the ranks of the A. A. U., pointing out that many colleges allowed their athletes to play semi-pro baseball in the summer and receive as high as $150 a month and still retain their amateur standing for inter-collegiate athletics.

It was rumored that the Big Ten, the foremost conference in the National Collegiate A. A., might be induced to join the A. A. U.

Several outstanding records were approved including Sabin Carr's indoor pole vault of 14 feet. Eleven track and field records were rejected.

DEMPSEY 'KEEPING IN SHAPE,' HE TELLS REPORTERS

Salt Lake City, Utah, Nov. 20.—(UP)—Jack Dempsey, stopping here today to visit his mother, Mrs. Cecelia Dempsey, said he was "keeping in shape" to fight in case negotiations with Tex Rickard result in his return to the ring.

Dempsey disclosed that he had started training by working out daily in a gymnasium in New York for two weeks after the collapse of his stage vehicle, "The Big Fight," in which he co-starred with his wife, Estelle Taylor, of the motion pictures.

Dempsey reiterated his retirement announcement, but admitted that after Christmas holidays he would come "on business" with Tex Rickard.

Rehashing October Blunders

TH CARD CATCHER WHO WAS CHARGED WITH TWO ERRORS ON ONE CONTINUOUS PLAY DURING THE THIRD GAME OF THE SERIES. 1/2

By QUIN HALL.

It isn't often that a pitcher puts over three strikes on the Great Bam of Sock. Babe Ruth, and then has George Herman smash out a circuit drive all on one trip to the plate.

But that is just what happened in St. Louis in the fourth game of the World's Series this Fall when the Cardinals were making a last ditch fight to keep the New York Club from taking four in a row.

Now that election and Hallows'en are over it seems a propitious time to delve back in the dusty records and again look over some of the things that happened in the Fall baseball classic. And one of the outstanding bits occurred on the occasion referred to, "Wee Willie" Sherdel, who helps the Cardinals win league pennants but who has not been fortunate in getting the breaks in series' play, was on the mound southpawing his way to what might have developed into a lot of glory.

For six innings "Wee Willie" had been doing a rather good job of holding the Yankees in check. In the seventh frame, with one gone, Sherdel put over two called strikes on the Bam and came through with another lightning quick one that went over the center of the pan. Umpire Pfrman, a National League arbiter, who was officiating back of the player who was charged up with the blunders. It happened in the sixth inning of the first game played in St. Louis and during that frame the Cardinals looked like a small boy lost in a big crowd.

The inning; Koenig singled and was out on a fielder's choice when Ruth grounded to Frisch. Gehrig walked. Meusel grounded to High whose throw to Frisch forced Gehrig but when Frisch threw to Bottomley on an attempted double Ruth came plowing in toward the plate. Bottomley's throw to Wilson had the Babe beaten but he slid in like an avalanche and scored when Jimmy dropped the ball. Error number one.

Frisch had been knocked almost cold in a collision with Meusel when the latter crashed into second on Bottomley's throw home. Wilson, not sensing the situation at the keystone corner, heaved the ball over second and it went into center field allowing Meusel to take third on error number two.

It probably will be a long time before Sherdel tries to slip by a quick delivery or Wilson pegs to second when second is as vacant as the upstairs of a boarding house during dinner time, but they both did such things at a critical time in an important series.

And they'll probably remember the plays as long as they live.

Belle Bennett Coming in "Mother Machree"

Weeds and Hay Fever

Government authorities have found that the common ragweed is to be found in some parts of Colorado. The great ragweed is also found in a few sections of the Pacific and Mountain states. The western ragweed is so common in some parts of California that it is an important factor in hay fever in that state. The most important hay-fever weeds of the Pacific and Mountain states are the wormwoods.

BRUNDAGE MAY SUCCEED MURRAY HULBERT

LATTER NEW YORK MAN CLOSING HIS 4TH TERM AS PRESIDENT

COLLEGE FACTION IN A NEAR CLASH WITH AMATEUR ATHLETIC LEADERS

By GEORGE KIRKSEY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
New York, Nov. 20.—Peace and harmony existed today between the college and amateur factions of the Amateur Athletic Union as the fortieth annual convention went into its final day at the Waldorf Astoria hotel.

With Avery Brundage, 38-year-old Chicago contractor, slated to succeed Murray Hulbert of New York, who is now closing his fourth term as president, the western conference, which has long been "at odds" with the A. A. U., was expected to be drawn closer to the amateur body.

A serious internal clash was narrowly averted in the opening day's session between the college faction, led by Gustavus T. Kirby, past president of the A. A. U., and head of the I. C. A., on behalf of eastern colleges, and amateur athletic leaders.

Kirby's resolution to permit a college or university maintaining a proper system of amateur standards to certify the amateur status of its athletes for A. A. U. competition was passed only after two defeats and two revisions.

The amateur leaders objected to the resolution on the ground that professionalism might creep into the ranks of the A. A. U., pointing out that many colleges allowed their athletes to play semi-pro baseball in the summer and receive as high as $150 a month and still retain their amateur standing for inter-collegiate athletics.

It was rumored that the Big Ten, the foremost conference in the National Collegiate A. A., might be induced to join the A. A. U.

Several outstanding records were approved including Sabin Carr's indoor pole vault of 14 feet. Eleven track and field records were rejected.

Salt Lake City, Utah, Nov. 20.—(U.P.)—Jack Dempsey, stopping here today to visit his mother, Mrs. Cecelia Dempsey, said he was "keeping in shape" to fight in case negotiations with Tex Rickard result in his return to the ring.

Dempsey disclosed that he had started training by working out daily in a gymnasium in New York for two weeks after the collapse of his stage vehicle, "The Big Fight," in which he co-starred with his wife, Estelle Taylor, of the motion pictures. Dempsey reiterated his retirement announcement, but admitted that after Christmas holidays he would confer "on business" with Tex Rickard.

Rehashing October Blunders

By QUIN HALL.

It isn't often that a pitcher puts over three strikes on the Great Bam of Sock. Babe Ruth, and then has George Herman smash out a circuit drive all on one trip to the plate.

But that is just what happened in St. Louis in the fourth game of the World's Series this Fall when the Cardinals were making a last ditch fight to keep the New York Club from taking four in a row.

Now that election and Hal-lows'en are over it seems a propitious time to delve back in the dusty records and again look over some of the things that happened in the Fall baseball classic. And one of the outstanding bits occurred on the occasion referred to.

"Wee Willie" Sherdel, who helps the Cardinals win league pennants but who has not been fortunate in getting the breaks in series' play, was on the mound southpawing his way to what might have developed into a lot of glory.

For six innings "Wee Willie" had been doing a rather good job of holding the Yankees in check. In the seventh frame, with one zone, Sherdel put over two called strikes on the Bam and came through with another lightning quick one that went over the center of the pan. Umpire Pfrman, a National League arbiter, who was officiating back of the player who was charged up with the blunders. It happened in the sixth inning of the first game played in St. Louis and during that frame the Cardinals looked like a small boy lost in a big crowd.

The inning; Koenig singled and was out on a fielder's choice when Ruth grounded to Frisch. Gehrig walked. ## Mr. Kasch Has Bright

Outlook on Basketball

The outlook for the '28 basketball season is not particularly bright. The fact that our little conflagration of last spring left us without a gym, is the cause for most of the gloom. Several places have been suggested for practice floors but it seems that a permit to use the same cannot be secured.

On the other hand, if a suitable floor can be obtained, Coach Kasch should be able to turn out another championship team. Six lettermen from last year will return for another season and they, together with several players from the second team should make a squad equal to any in the conference. The returning lettermen are: Capt. Guin, Wise, Swanson, Gabiou, Fuller and Purdy.

OUTLINE OF PROGRAMS

FOR YEAR ANNOUNCED

Rumors have been in circulation recently, and still are, concerning programs which are to be presented in the near future.

The reports have been investigated to some extent and it has been found that certain members of the faculty, aided by students, it is supposed, have planned to "put on" little entertainments once a month for the remainder of the school year. This will be done to relieve the monotony of continual studying and to bolster school spirit.

These programs probably will be made up of little dialogues or skits, orchestra and Glee club music. Other contributions from talent in the school will be used.

Whatever this entertainment proves to be, it is absolutely certain that the students will appreciate and enjoy it very much and will be exceedingly grateful to all those responsible. Every one is looking forward to the first of the series which concerns itself with Thanksgiving and which will probably be presented, Wednesday, November 28.

SEN'E AND NONSENSE

Customer: I would like to see a pair of shoes that would fit my feet.

Salesman (grimly): So would I.

Teacher: Who can name one important thing we have now that we did not have a hundred years ago?

Tommy: Me.

Oscar's Mamma: "Now mind, Oscar, if they pass you the cake the second time at the party, you must say, 'No, thanks; I've had plenty.' And don't you forget it."

Hostess (at hte party): "Won't you have some more cake?"

Oscar (who hasn't forgotten): "Nope, 'thanks, I've had enough, and don't you forget it!"

He: I'm a little stiff from bowling.

She: Where did you say you were from?

Why are young ladies at the close of a party like arrows?

They can't go off without a "bow" and are all in a quiver till they get one.

It speaks well for the table manners and grace of the Hi-Y that the supper here to be served with tin cups and plates about an inch thick. I suppose this keeps peace at the supper because such dishes are deadly missiles, and a quarrel would reach a rather abrupt ending.

"What two things," exclaimed the orator, "are helping mankind to get up in the world?"

"The alarm clock and the step-ladder," answered the dull person in the rear of the hall.

When a book is so important, or a meeting so pressing, that a notice of the book's being lost, or of the meeting to be held, continue long after the book has been found, or the meeting held, then that book must be either the encyclopedia Britannica or a session of congress.

"THOSE PICTURES"

Well, there, thank heaven, that job's done!

The meanest one beneath the sun—And now it's safe behind me. I went and had my picture "look" To put in our Brainonian book.

On page nineteen you'll find me.

What shall I wear that'll "take" quite neat?

And would you have it show your feet?

(These questions are just gasty) How shall I have 'em fix my hair? I certainly hope my eyes won't stare (I would please my rival vastly.)

I had my "water-waves" all set, I held so still, I'm crippled yet.

My smile was sweet—(you won't know me!)

Small matter what the things look like!

What, do it again? No sir, I strike! I'm going right straight home.

BOOKS AND MAGAZINES ORDERED FOR LIBRARY

Attempts have been and are being made to replace the library which burned in last spring's disastrous fire. New books and magazines have been ordered and are slowly arriving to delight faculty hearts. Students who will be called upon to use these new books, reference and otherwise, will find them very much worth while.

The best of current magazines are also making their appearance. Science, History and Manual Training departments are blessed thus far and other departments will soon be supplied.

But that is not all. Every day teachers may be found in the attic of the old court house, garbed in aprons and canvas gloves, to find smoked books which are not in too bad condition to be used. It is surprising to note how many of the books are still usable. These, with the new books, will provide excellent reference material throughout the year.

CAMPFIRE GIRLS

HIKE A SUCCESS

Our Campfire Girls surely must be up-and-coming, for, when their guardians, Miss Sundberg and Miss Haug, had to stay to a teachers' meeting, they carried out most of their plans alone.

Tuesday, after school, nine of them hiked to the top of Ahren's Hill. When their guardians arrived a fire had been started. Almost everyone knows how difficult it is to start a fire. Even the boys will have to give the girls some credit. The milk had been heated for the cocoa so that the lunch was soon ready to be relished.

And relished it certainly was! The sun had set, and after enjoying the view, they found a shortcut which they used in running down the hill. This pathway made it possible to reach their homes in record time.

Charles (Bud) Wilson, a Junior in the Brainerd high school, was accidentally shot Sunday morning near his home. Bud is now at St. Joseph's hospital and is in such condition that he will be glad to welcome visitors.

I'd walk two miles for a '29 annual. You would, too. If you knew what's going to be in it. Your picture will be there.

It's time to buy your '29 annual! The staff is selling them at fifty cents down.

SENIOR HI-Y MEETS WITH LOYAL THOMAS

The Senior Hi-Y meeting was held on Wednesday night, in the Hi-Y rooms in the Y. M. C. A. The meeting started at 6:30 with supper and speeches as forms of entertainment.

A delicious supper was served consisting of meat loaf, mashed potatoes, gravy, rolls and pickles. The meeting was called to order at 7:00. After the president had made a few appropriate remarks, Loyal Thomas the Boy's Work Secretary of the Minneapolis Y. M. C. A. gave a very interesting speech.

All the members of the Hi-Y thanked him for his talk and the meeting adjourned.

EXCHANGE

The students of the Ynnae, Canby, Minn., were given an inspiring talk by Mr. Selke, president of the Brainerd Teachers college, on "Why Should I Have a High School Education?"

The pupils of the Longfellow junior high school, have organized many clubs, such as a dramatic club, checker club, and etc. We wish them good success.

The seniors of the Cathedral Chimes, St. Cloud, have organized a ring committee, and this committee presented to the seniors four excellent rings for their approval. The one that receives the largest number of votes, will be chosen.

The Red Wing Blackbird, Red Wing, Minn., has an especially good article on co-operation.

The history classes of the Washington-Junior high school, Duluth, are making and drawing articles for the study of the colonial period.

The girls' basketball team of the Pequotian, Pequot, Minn., are organizing their team.

A very interesting article on "What is Your Favorite Past Time?" is found in The Courier. I wonder what many students do for their favorite past time.

The juniors of the Forest Grove high school, are preparing to produce a play called "The Arrival of Kitty."

Last year, the Blackbird received national honors in the All-American contest for a high school paper.

E. C. Case, who spoke at Brainerd high school a few months ago, also spoke to the pupils of the Little Falls high school, on the conditions in Burma.

The teachers of the Forest Grove high school, were entertained by the Rotarians at a banquet given Friday, Sept. 28.

The Sophomores of Watertown high school, initiated the Freshmen of their school with pomp and splendor.

New exchanges received are: The Monday Mourning Moan, Forest Grove high school, Forest Grove, Minn.; The Courier, Lake City, Minn.; The Pequotian, Pequot, Minn.; and the Old Crow, Watertown, Minn.

The Hiwadena has a very interesting editorial on Halloween.

A Scotchman about to take a trip across the continent by train, was told by a friend to throw a penny out the window at the mouth of every tunnel and he would have good luck. On our hero's return he was asked if he had had good luck. He replied that he had at the first three tunnels but at the fourth one, the string broke and he lost the penny.

A bigger and better annual is being built, and the Brainonian is building it! Get an option on one for fifty cents from any one on the staff.

YE EDITOR

The news stories concerning the Latin club and Freshman picnic published in the last issue of the Brainonian were supposed to have been printed before but due to the lack of space, were omitted. We must take into consideration the fact that the Brainonian is published through the kindness and courtesy of the Dispatch, that their ads and copy are more important than our stories, and therefore they will be set before our's. Hereafter, kindly keep in mind, if a news article is omitted, it was done to furnish space for a last minute ad or story that must be in.

Starting next Tuesday, student opinions and comments may be aired through the Student opinion column of the Brainonian. This column will be edited by the editorial staff of the Brainonian, printing letters from the students concerning any school affairs. The letters must be signed but initials may be substituted if the letters are published.

BILLY TELLS OF THE '29 ANNUAL

For the benefit of the Freshmen, it might be well to explain just what the annual is. For the past years, the students of the school and the Brainonian staff join in preparing in an attractive form a book designed to be a memory of the events and organizations of the year. It includes sections devoted to each of the classes, athletics, clubs, student life, events, features and everything of interest to the student body. It is the only complete record of all the things done by the school and all the good times had, in which respect it probably surpasses even the girl grade, so often neglected till the Junior year.

We are now in circumstances which no other classes of B. H. S. will experience. Next year the old court house and the city hall as a school will soon be forgotten by all except the graduates, in the completeness of the new one. The drive just started is in reality a drive against this. We are making the '29 Brainonian so it will be a true picture of the difficulties encountered and surmounted in our temporary quarters. Graduates all say the Freshman and Senior years are the most momentous in a high school career. Should these be forgotten, then, merely because of better times to come? As Virgil says, "Someday it will be a pleasure to look on your difficulties." Apply it to yourself! The 1929 Brainonian is going to be distinctly different from the others in many respects. The idea of the Senior class panels is entirely new. We are following an Indian theme, which applies to this region, throughout the book with much more art work than ever before. It's a chuck full of pictures. There's a section of student life that's going to be nothing else but—it'll have things in it about just as many of us as we possibly can get. Athletics is to have more and better space with individual pictures of the team men. There'll be more pages, hotter features, cartoons, or what have you? And by the way, any criticisms or suggestions will be appreciated.

The increase in size and the improvements, together with the difficulties of raising money this year, have caused the raise in price to $1.25. ## JUNIOR HI-Y WILL ATTEND CONFERENCE

Thursday evening the members of the Junior Hi-Y assembled in the parlor rooms of the Y. M. C. A. to hold a business meeting and partake of a lunch. The menu consisted of spaghetti, buns with peanut butter, cake, and lemonade.

At the meeting the boys resolved to go down to the Older Boys Conference which will be held November 27, 28, and 29. The group will leave for Duluth to attend the conference on Friday morning.

The Junior Hi-Y is growing rapidly and many prospects for membership are being considered.

Brainonian meeting in Miss Marshall's room at 3:30 Wednesday.

Donald is enrolled as a freshman in the College of Letters and Science in the U of California, of which Dr. Charles H. Rieber is the dean. He is also partaking in other campus activities.

This information was sent to the Brainonian by the Home Town Service of the University of California at Los Angeles. We are glad to hear that Donald is doing so well, but we would expect it after his record here and his experience as president of the class of 1928 and as leading man in The Boomerang.

The Latin I pupils of Miss O'Brien's room are producing very interesting notebooks on the subject that they are taking. On the wall, one can see pictures strewn all over it. Some, illustrating boys, girl, farmers, and many other things, can be seen.

In each class, there are two appointed who will, after the pictures are all in, gather them and pick out the best ones and put them in a book. Later on, in the future, one will be able to see the notebooks about the room.

It is related that a solemn-faced woman was once riding on a train from Brookfield to Stamford. Somewhere between the two stations an accident occurred, and the train rolled down an embankment. "Oh, dear!" she answered, "then I hadn't aughtier got off here, had I?"

It's worth a dollar and a quarter! The '29 annual.

ENGLISH CONTRACTS

GET GOOD RESULTS

Satisfactory results of English I and English II contract work were submitted to Miss Haug, teacher in charge, on Friday of last week.

English I students who have been studying "The Merchant of Venice" and English II pupils who have been delving into "Julius Caesar" were given special contracts, several weeks ago.

As a result of this work, four model theatres were made by Anna McKay, Helen Untereker, Janet Kampmann and Donald Anderson. Allan's model was of wood and had two doll characters, Portia and Nerissa, from "The Merchant of Venice" on the stage. Helen made the seats on each side of the theatre, while the rest made only the stage.

A number of very good booklets were also handed in. Janet Kampmann had the most attractive one on "Julius Caesar," while the "Merchant of Venice" was best featured in notebook form by Margaret Casey. Some original plays were submitted also in which Shylock was made a humorous as a modern character.

IN THE CLASSROOM

Unusual interest was manifested in Miss Herwig's 5th period Modern History class Thursday when the importance of men in various centuries was debated.

Men from the 15th to the 18th centuries were rated according to their contributions to civilization and progress, human welfare and happiness.

Columbus and Galileo were chosen as the most important men of the 15th century. Helen Untereker championed the former while Helen Sheets upheld the latter. A vote was cast at the conclusion of the speeches and Columbus' importance was assured by a lead of five votes over Galileo.

For the 16th century characters, David Weber upheld Martin Luther while Louise Clausen spoke in behalf of Queen Elizabeth. As these are always interesting subjects for debate, some very good arguments were presented. David's presentation carried the class by a unanimous vote.

The statesman, John Eliot, and the warrior, Gustavus Adolphus, had been considered by the class the greatest men of the 17th century.

So Amy Markham and Mildred Johnson, respectively, discussed their contributions to the world pro and con. After much deliberation the class unanimously decided that the English statesman's contributions affect us more now than the efforts of the Swedish warrior.

B. PERRY NEWTON GETS APPOINTMENT

B. Perry Newton, who has held the office of Scout executive in the Crow Wing area council for the past three years, will leave Brainerd on November 26 for Fairbault, where he will make his new headquarters. Mr. Newton's work in this council has made it what it is today. He supervised Camp Clearwater during the summers of 1925, '26 and '27 and made it a real camp, which has acquired fame and renown throughout the state.

Mr. Newton states that the hardest part in leaving our city is the parting with the boys he has known here whom he describes as "a good live gang with an excellent spirit of loyalty and co-operation."

S. C. Bakken of Minneapolis who succeeds Mr. Newton, will act as temporary executive until the first of the year when a new leader will be appointed.

Mr. Bakken, a brother of the assistant at Camp Clearwater two years ago, was born at Pequot where he first joined the Scouts, later moving to Minneapolis, where he received training in the movement.

High school students are sorry to lose Mr. Newton who has certainly co-operated with them in many respects. He assisted them in the Brainonian Vaudeville of last year to a large degree by supervising the lighting and by a clever Indian dance.

His influence upon the boys with whom he has come in contact has been most wholesome and helpful. The Scouts will all miss him but they wish him success in his new venture.

Unlearned lessons and the excuses that go with them are making detectives out of teachers.

ROGERS, BRIAN NET

SIXTY-FIVE DOLLARS

The results of the Junior Benefit Movie, "Varsity," with Buddy Rogers and Mary Brian, given at the Lyceum theatre Thursday and Friday, November 8 and 9, were very good considering the inopportune time in which the picture was shown.

Due to the fact that the teachers' convention was held that week, the faculty was absent, while the hunting season and perfect autumn weather kept many Brainerdites from attending. However, the faithful members, determined to make good, scoured the town and supplied all those who could go with tickets.

A total of about six hundred and fifty tickets was sold which nets approximately sixty dollars for the class. This represents a small amount of the money which must be raised by the Juniors this year. The remainder will be acquired later on by candy sales, benefit plays, and other means to raise necessary funds.

If your garbage can is missing, And your tires from air are free, And your picket fence is absent, And your son got home at three; If your basement window's busted, And your aerial is gone, A pin stuck in the doorbell, Tin cans upon your lawn; If you head does ache to bursting, And you're just about to die, 'Cause kids on Halloween night, Chose their tricks to ply; Thne hearken, worthy gentlemen, I cannot tell a lie, Of all the folks in Brainerd town, It surely was not I.

Have you bought an annual? Any staff member will sell you one.

Everystudent

One of the very best of original plays for English IV is the one written by Edith Heald. So good is it that it deserves recognition in these columns.

Dramatis Personae—
Supreme Authority.
Teacher Middleman.
Everystudent.
Folly.
Wisdom.
Pleasure.
Fame.
Daily Marks.

Act I, Scene I

Supreme Authority (seated in office, poring over a huge record—).
"The four year's course draws to an end. It's high time that these careless youngsters are brought to realize this fact. I am, to them, a shadowy creature—never a reality. They ignore me, they ridicule me—but in the end, they must admit I am the Last Word. Now to the work in hand.

First, my messenger! (Rings bell on desk. Enter Teacher Middleman.)

T. M.—"You rang for me, sir?"
S. A.—"I did, and thank you for appearing so promptly. I am asking you to prepare the students for their final reckoning."

T. M.—"Why, sir, I've been doing that for the last four years!"

S. A.—"Quite right!—So you have indeed, tho' little have they taken that fact into account or shown much appreciation of your efforts. I should have said, rather—I'm asking you to warn them that the time draws near in which I am to weigh what they have gained, and decide what rewards they are to have."

T. M.—"Why, yes, indeed, sir—that will I do, at once. But I have my misgivings."

(Exits, shaking head sorrowfully.)

Act I, Scene II

Everystudent (Sits on a desk, drumming his heels, and whistling "What'll I do?" a pile of unopened books scattered on the floor where they have fallen.)

"Gee, but this is the life! Out with the gang last night until after twelve, but slid in past my dad, and he never knew I'd had the car. Going to Crosby tonight, if—"

(Door opens suddenly and Teacher Middleman enters with a solemn face. Walks over, and stoops to pick up the books. Everystudent scrambles off the desk and hurries to help.)

Teacher Middleman—"Boy, boy, how ever can you face this ordeal so cheerfully?"

Everystudent—"Why, what's up? Another quiz?"

T. M.—"Yes, a quiz—but a real one this time. Supreme Authority bids you present yourself for the Final Reckoning."

Everystudent—(starting back in dismay, and groping for something to lean against.) "Gee, that is a knock-out!" (Brightening) "But after all, that ought to be easy. I'll have lots of help, you see. The gang will all see me through, and the worst will soon be over. Supreme Authority will hand me something nice and then I'll be ready to do Big Things!"

T. M.—"Help! see you through! What help? What gang?"

Everystudent—"I'll go and round 'em up. We'll all be there, with bells on. Don't you worry!"

(Exit, gaily waving his hand from the doorway.)

(To be continued)

Mr. Kasch Has Bright

Outlook on Basketball

The outlook for the '28 basketball season is not particularly bright. The fact that our little conflagration of last spring left us without a gym, is the cause for most of the gloom. Several places have been suggested for practice floors but it seems that a permit to use the same cannot be secured.

On the other hand, if a suitable floor can be obtained, Coach Kasch should be able to turn out another championship team. Six lettermen from last year will return for another season and they, together with several players from the second team should make a squad equal to any in the conference. The returning lettermen are: Capt. Guin, Wise, Swanson, Gabiou, Fuller and Purdy.

OUTLINE OF PROGRAMS

FOR YEAR ANNOUNCED

Rumors have been in circulation recently, and still are, concerning programs which are to be presented in the near future.

The reports have been investigated to some extent and it has been found that certain members of the faculty, aided by students, it is supposed, have planned to "put on" little entertainments once a month for the remainder of the school year. This will be done to relieve the monotony of continual studying and to bolster school spirit.

These programs probably will be made up of little dialogues or skits, orchestra and Glee club music. Other contributions from talent in the school will be used.

Whatever this entertainment proves to be, it is absolutely certain that the students will appreciate and enjoy it very much and will be exceedingly grateful to all those responsible. Every one is looking forward to the first of the series which concerns itself with Thanksgiving and which will probably be presented, Wednesday, November 28.

SEN'E AND NONSENSE

Customer: I would like to see a pair of shoes that would fit my feet.

Salesman (grimly): So would I.

Teacher: Who can name one important thing we have now that we did not not have a hundred years ago?

Tommy: Me.

Oscar's Mamma: "Now mind, Oscar, if they pass you the cake the second time at the party, you must say, 'No, thanks; I've had plenty. And don't you forget it.'"

Hostess (at her party): "Won't you have some more cake?"

Oscar (who hasn't forgotten): "Nope, thanks, I've had enough, and don't you forget it!"

He: I'm a little stiff from bowling.

She: Where did you say you were from?

Why are young ladies at the close of a party like arrows?

They can't go off without a "bow" and are all in a quiver till they get one.

It speaks well for the table manners and grace of the Hi-Y that the supper has to be served with tin cups and plates about an inch thick. I suppose this keeps peace at the supper because such dishes are deadly missiles, and a quarrel would reach a rather abrupt ending.

"What two things," exclaimed the orator, "are helping mankind to get up in the world?"

"The alarm clock and the step-ladder," answered the dull person in the rear of the hall.

When a book is so important, or a meeting so pressing, that a notice of the book's being lost, or of the meeting's to be held, continue long after the book has been found, or the meeting held, then that book must be either the encyclopedia Britannica or a session of congress.

"THOSE PICTURES"

Well, there, thank heaven, that job's done!

The moonest one beneath the sun—And now it's safe behind me.

I went and had my picture "look" To put in our Brainonian book.

On page nineteen you'll find me.

What shall I wear that'll "take" quite neat?

And would you have it show your feet?

(These questions are just ghastly) How shall I have 'em fix my hair?

I certainly hope my eyes won't stare (I would please my rival vastly.)

I had my "water-waves" all set, I held 'em still, I'm crippled yet.

My smile was sweet—(you won't know me!) Small matter what the things look like!

What, do it again? No sir, I strike! I'm going right straight home.

BOOKS AND MAGAZINES ORDERED FOR LIBRARY

Attempts have been and are being made to replace the library which burned in last spring's disastrous fire. New books and magazines have been ordered and are slowly arriving to delight faculty hearts. Students who will be called upon to use these new books, reference and otherwise, will find them very much worth while.

The best of current magazines are also making their appearance. Science, History and Manual Training departments are blessed thus far and other departments will soon be supplied.

But that is not all. Every day teachers may be found in the attic of the old court house, garbed in aprons and canvas gloves, to find smoked books which are not in too bad condition to be used. It is surprising to note how many of the books are still usable. These, with the new books, will provide excellent reference material throughout the year.

ALUMNI

Miss Margaret Bouma, graduate of '25, who has been visiting here for several days, returned to her home in Alexandria.

Miss Marcella Goedderz, who has been spending her vacation at the home of her parents, returned to Bemidji, where she is attending Normal.

William "Bus" Fitzharris is completing his studies at St. Thomas college in St. Paul.

Miss Shirley Peterson of '27, who was the week end guest of her parents, returned to Duluth to resume her studies as a laboratory technician in St. Mary's hospital.

Ethel Burns, Irene Molstad, Dorothy Kleven of '28, Gertrude Goedderz of '25, Margaret Armstrong, Helen Templeton of '27, and Thelma Hendrickson of '26, all students at St. Cloud Teacher's college, spent the week end here.

Walter Gartner, Milford Downie, John Ellison, Henry Viken, graduates of last year, Robert White of '26 and Fred Gruenhagen of '25, returned to Minneapolis to resume their studies at the University of Minnesota.

Eldyth Anderson, alumna of '27, is employed at Sears Roebuck and Co. in Minneapolis.

Rachel Evans, of the class of '27, returned to St. Cloud after spending several days visiting here.

Viola McKay, of the alumni of '27, left recently for New London, Connecticut, where she will be the guest of her brother.

Miss Katherine Nolan, graduate of '26, who is receiving nurses training at Rochester, is spending her vacation at the home of her parents.

Miss Marcella Goedderz, former student of B. H. S., who is attending normal school at Bemidji, spent the week end here.

CAMPFIRE GIRLS

HIKE A SUCCESS

Our Campfire Girls surely must be up-and-coming, for, when their guardians, Miss Sundberg and Miss Haug, had to stay to a teachers' meeting, they carried out most of their plans alone.

Tuesday, after school, nine of them hiked to the top of Ahren's Hill. When their guardians arrived a fire had been started. Almost everyone knows how difficult it is to start a fire. Even the boys will have to give the girls some credit. The milk had been heated for the cocoa so that the lunch was soon ready to be relished.

And relished it certainly was! The sun had set, and after enjoying the view, they found a shortcut which they used in running down the hill. This pathway made it possible to reach their homes in record time.

Charles (Bud) Wilson, a Junior in the Brainerd high school, was accidentally shot Sunday morning near his home. Bud is now at St. Joseph's hospital and is in such condition that he will be glad to welcome visitors.

I'd walk two miles for a '29 annual. You would, too, if you knew what's going to be in it. Your picture will be there.

It's time to buy your '29 annual! The staff is selling them at fifty cents down.

SENIOR HI-Y MEETS WITH LOYAL THOMAS

The Senior Hi-Y meeting was held on Wednesday night, in the Hi-Y rooms in the Y. M. C. A. The meeting started at 6:30 with supper and speeches as forms of entertainment.

A delicious supper was served consisting of meat loaf, mashed potatoes, gravy, rolls and pickles. The meeting was called to order at 7:00. After the president had made a few appropriate remarks, Loyal Thomas the Boy's Work Secretary of the Minneapolis Y. M. C. A. gave a very interesting speech.

All the members of the Hi-Y thanked him for his talk and the meeting adjourned.

EXCHANGE

The students of the Ynnae, Canby, Minn., were given an inspiring talk by Mr. Selke, president of the St. Cloud Teachers college, on "Why Should I Have a High School Education?"

The pupils of the Longfellow junior high school, have organized many clubs, such as a dramatic club, checker club, and etc. We wish them good success.

The seniors of the Cathedral Chimes, St. Cloud, have organized a ring committee, and this committee presented to the seniors four excellent rings for their approval. The one that receives the largest number of votes, will be chosen.

The Red Wing Blackbird, Red Wing, Minn., has an especially good article on co-operation.

The history classes of the Washington-Junior high school, Duluth, are making and drawing articles for the study of the colonial period.

The girls' basketball team of the Pequotian, Pequot, Minn., are organizing their team.

A very interesting article on "What is Your Favorite Past Time?" is found in The Courier. I wonder what many students do for their favorite past time.

The Juniors of the Forest Grove high school, are preparing to produce a play called "The Arrival of Kitty."

Last year, the Blackbird received national honors in the All-American contest for a high school paper.

E. C. Case, who spoke at Brainerd high school a few months ago, also spoke to the pupils of the Little Falls high school, on the conditions in Burma.

The teachers of the Forest Grove high school, were entertained by the Rotarians at a banquet given Friday, Sept. 28.

The Sophomores of Watertown high school, initiated the Freshmen of their school with pomp and splendor.

New exchanges received are: The Monday Mourning Moan, Forest Grove high school, Forest Grove, Oregon, The Courier, Lake City, Minn., The Pequotian, Pequot, Minn., and the Old Crow, Watertown, Minn.

The Hiwadena has a very interesting editorial on Halloween.

A Scotchman about to take a trip across the continent by train, was told by a friend to throw a penny out the window at the mouth of every tunnel and he would have good luck. On our hero's return he was asked if he had had good luck. He replied that he had at the first three tunnels but at the fourth one, the string broke and he lost the penny.

A bigger and better annual is being built, and the Brainonian is building it! Get an option on one for fifty cents from any one on the staff.

YE EDITOR

The news stories concerning the Latin club and Freshman picnic published in the last issue of the Brainonian were supposed to have been printed before but due to the lack of space, were omitted. We must take into consideration the fact that the Brainonian is published through the kindness and courtesy of the Dispatch, that their ads and copy are more important than our stories, and therefore they will be set before ours.

Hereafter, kindly keep in mind, if a news article is omitted, it was done to furnish space for a last minute ad or story that must be in.

Starting next Tuesday, student opinions and comments may be aired through the Student opinion column of the Brainonian. This column will be edited by the editorial staff of the Brainonian, printing letters from the students concerning any school affairs. The letters must be signed but initials may be substituted if the letters are published.

BILLY TELLS OF THE '29 ANNUAL

For the benefit of the Freshmen, it might be well to explain just what the annual is. For the past years, the students of the school and the Brainonian staff join in preparing in an attractive form a book designed to be a memory of the events and organizations of the year. It includes sections devoted to each of the classes, athletics, clubs, student life, events, features and everything of interest to the student body. It is the only complete record of all the things done by the school and all the good times had, in which respect it probably surpasses even the girl grade, so often neglected till the Junior year.

We are now in circumstances which no other classes of B. H. S. will experience. Next year the old court house and the city hall as a school will soon be forgotten by all except the graduates, in the completeness of the new one. The drive just started is in reality a drive against this. We are making the '29 Brainonian so it will be a true picture of the difficulties encountered and surmounted in our temporary quarters. Graduates all say the Freshman and Senior years are the most momentous in a high school career. Should these be forgotten, then, merely because of better times to come? As Virgil says, "Someday it will be a pleasure to look on your difficulties." Apply it to yourself!

The 1929 Brainonian is going to be distinctly different from the others in many respects. The idea of the Senior class panels is entirely new. We are following an Indian theme, which applies to this region, throughout the book with much more art work than ever before. It's chuck full of pictures. There's a section of student life that's going to be nothing else but—it'll have things in it about just as many of you as we possibly can get. Athletics is to have more and better space with individual pictures of the team men. There'll be more pages, hotter features, cartoons, or what have you? And by the way, any criticisms or suggestions will be appreciated.

The increase in size and the improvements, together with the difficulties of raising money this year, have caused the raise in price to $1.25. The real cost of each book is more than twice that amount. And think what you get! We are making it easy for you by having the payments in small installments. The people of Brainerd are on the alert to see what the school can do under the circumstances. It's up to YOU to show them! Our slogan is "A Bigger and Better Brainonian."

WE are making it BETTER—YOU are the ones who can make it BIGGER.

If your garbage can is missing,
And your tires from air are free,
And your picket fence is absent,
And your son got home at three;
If your basement window's busted,
And your aerial is gone,
A pin stuck in the doorbell,
Tin cans upon your lawn;
If your head does ache to bursting,
And you're just about to die,
'Cause kids on Hallowe'en night,
Chose their tricks to play;
Thine hearken, worthy gentlemen,
I cannot tell a lie,
Of all the folks in Brainerd town,
It surely was not I.

Have you bought an annual? Any staff member will sell you one.

Act I, Scene I

Supreme Authority (seated in office, poring over a huge record—).
"The four year's course draws to an end. It's high time that these careless youngsters are brought to realize this fact. I am, to them, a shadowy creature—never a reality. They ignore me, they ridicule me—but in the end, they must admit I am the Last Word. Now to the work in hand."

First, my messenger! (Rings bell on desk. Enter Teacher Middleman.)

T. M.—"You rang for me, sir?"
S. A.—"I did, and thank you for appearing so promptly. I am asking you to prepare the students for their final reckoning."

T. M.—"Why, sir, I've been doing that for the last four years!"

S. A.—"Quite right! So you have indeed, tho' little have they taken that fact into account or shown much appreciation of your efforts. I should have said, rather—I'm asking you to warn them that the time draws near in which I am to weigh what they have gained, and decide what rewards they are to have."

T. M.—"Why, yes, indeed, sir—that will I do, at once. But I have my misgivings."

(Exits, shaking head sorrowfully.)

Act I, Scene II

Every student (Sits on a desk, drumming his heels, and whistling "What'll I do?" a pile of unopened books scattered on the floor where they have fallen.)

"Gee, but this is the life! Out with the gang last night until after twelve, but slid in past my dad, and he never knew I'd had the car. Going to Crosby tonight, if—"

(Door opens suddenly and Teacher Middleman enters with a solemn face. Walks over, and stoops to pick up the books. Every student scrambles off the desk and hurries to help.)

Teacher Middleman—"Boy, boy, how ever can you face this ordeal so cheerfully?"

Every student—"Why, what's up? Another quiz?"

T. M.—"Yes, a quiz—but a real one, this time. Supreme Authority bids you present yourself for the Final Reckoning."

Every student—(starting back in dismay, and groping for something to lean against.) "Gee, that is a knock-out!" (Brightening) "But after all, that ought to be easy. I'll have lots of help, you see. The gang will all see me through, and the worst will soon be over. Supreme Authority will hand me something nice and then I'll be ready to do Big Things!"

T. M.—"Help! see you through! What help? What gang?"

Every student—"I'll go and round 'em up. We'll all be there, with bells on. Don't you worry!"

(Exit, gaily waving his hand from the doorway.)

COUNCIL APPROVES SCHOOL TRAFFIC PLAN

Agrees to Appropriate Half of Cost to Put Plan Into Effect in School Zones

SPONSORED BY LEGION

Honor Students in Various Schools to be Deputized as Special
Officers

The city council last evening placed its stamp of approval on the school policing plan as outlined by the American Legion, that of deputizing honor students in the different school buildings as traffic officers to escort school children across the street and the establishment of stop signs in school zones.

The council's O. K. came in the form of a resolution approving half the cost of expenditure for equipment to place the movement into effect. The total cost for equipment, there being no additional expense, will be approximately $125. It was estimated by G. H. Berkholder, chairman of a special committee from the American Legion post here who appeared before the council and explained the plan.

Mr. Berkholder announced that a committee would petition the Brainerd Board of Education at its next meeting to meet the remaining half of the cost of expenditure.

Following sanction by both sides, the American Legion committee will conduct a series of instruction meetings at the various schools in the city, explaining to the school children the policing plan to be inaugurated.

Action to protect the school children from passing cars during noon hours and after school closing hours in the afternoon came following an accident on Third avenue N. E. recently when a school girl from the Lowell school was killed by an automobile as she was crossing the street after school had been dismissed for the day.

Twenty five stop signs at an approximate cost of $3.75 each and 13 hand signs at a cost of $1.25 each will be required to be purchased before the plan can be put into effect, Mr. Berkholder explained.

The stop signs will be placed at immediate crossings to the school and all cars must come to a full stop before proceeding through the school zone.

The school police, picked from honor students, will be equipped with a hand sign notifying the motorists to be cautious and to stop. The school police will be empowered to make complaints against any motorist who fails to respect the traffic law governing the school zone. One of the students will precede the students as they cross the intersection in a group and another will follow at the end of the line. In this way the school police will take upon themselves the responsibility of escorting the students successfully across the street. Placed on a competitive basis, eighth grade students will strive to become one of the policemen as it will be something of an honor position, Mr. Berkholder explained.

Twenty six honor students from the various schools in the city including the St. Francis school will become school policemen and traffic officers after the school zone traffic requirement is placed into effect.

Additional safety for school children may be taken later to institute the erection of guard fences to the outside of the sidewalks.

Appropriation of half the cost of expenditure was agreed upon following the adoption of a motion by Aldermen W. J. Hall and Chris Elvig.

All members of the council expressed themselves as being heartily in favor of the new plan.

Mr. Berkholder explained that a similar plan was being successfully operated in Minneapolis and Superior, Wis.

Opposes Pool Hall

The council made it plain last evening that it does not favor the granting of pool hall licenses in sections of the city outside the business district by voting unanimously in favor of not granting a pool hall license to an applicant from Northeast Brainerd.

Referred the aldermen of the Third ward for investigation, Alderman V. F. Anderson reported that he was not in favor of granting the pool hall license.

He said he had received several complaints against it. Alderman Martin Anderson was of the opinion that proper policing could not be given a pool room outside the business district and that if licenses were granted outside this area it would eventually mean that additional policemen would have to be employed.

To Decide on Hose

On motion the council gave the purchasing committee power to act in the matter of investigating the need of hose for the city engineer's department for the flushing of sewers and the purchase of the same if necessary from V. F. Hitch.

Mr. Hitch appeared before the council and offered for sale 300 feet of fire hose which had formerly been the property of the Northern Pacific hospital here. He said that the hose was practically new but he would sell it at a reduction.

City Engineer R. T. Campbell reported that a hose was necessary on occasions to flush out sewers.

Alderman Ernest Ritari was strongly opposed to the purchase of hose, suggesting that the hose might be secured from the fire department when needed. He further maintained that the city engineer's department was not properly equipped with racks to protect the hose.

The motion to place the matter in the hands of the purchasing committee with power to act carried by the count of five to three. Those voting in favor were Aldermen Martin Anderson, V. F. Anderson, V. E. Quansstrom, Chris Elvig, W. J. Lyons, while those who opposed it were Aldermen Ernest Ritari, C. G. Holmstrom, and W. J. Hall.

City Engineer Campbell was instructed to place his men on street cleaning work on paved streets. The council requested that the streets be cleaned before snow falls to lessen street cleaning trouble in the spring.

The engineer was instructed to prepare an estimate of the cost of a steel culvert for Norwood and 11th street.

WHAT HAS HAPPENED SO FAR.

JERRY DUNN, star reporter on a large newspaper, meets Ann Tremaine, daughter of a wealthy banker. He convinces her of the emptiness of the life she is leading, and takes her to live at his boarding house. There she is projected into a new world of people. She is immediately attracted to Steve Harrison, a husky young mechanic who aspires to the prize ring, and of whom Jerry is jealous. Ann gets a job as ticket seller in a local theatre owned by Nick Pagalos, and walks home with Steve Harrison. They are waylaid by Maizie Thompson, who accuses Steve of having broken a date with her. The next evening Ann promises to break her appointment with Jerry so that she can see Steve. She tells Jerry she would rather spend the evening with Harrison, and he is furious.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XX.

ANN sensed a vivid tension in her heart was beating heavily . . . unhappily.

"Ann, dear, it never happened to me before in my life—but I'm in love. I love you. I'm crazy about you. I loved you the minute I saw you but I didn't know—I have just begun to realize it. I am like any other right-thinking man on earth. I want to protect the girl I love from—"

His arms, despite her struggling, closed around her and she was pressed close to him. His nearness was not hateful—it was meaningless—without sensation.

She lifted her face up and he bent forward as though towards an inevitable kiss but she shook her head. "I don't think even Steve Harrison would do a thing like this," she said coldly. "I am not used to being kissed and embraced against my will and I don't like it, Jerry, let me go, please."

His eyes like steel, but hot with mingled jealousy and desire, blazed in her face and then—slowly his arms relaxed.

"You're right," he said. "If you belong to a roughneck it's just a case of mistaken identity. I thought you were a different kind of a girl."

A tide of rebellion stirred in her. A deep, cutting feeling towards Jerry Dunn existed in her heart but, perversely, there was a surface desire to wound and repel him.

"Good-night," she said frigidly. Jerry stood perfectly still, his arms hanging straight from his sides as though he were controlling himself with an effort. "I have two ideas in mind," he stated slowly. "I can let you go in your own sweet way—or I can stop you."

"Nobody can stop me from doing what I please," she informed him with equal steadiness. "Believe me I'd stop you if I thought you were going out into actual danger," he retorted. "I don't want you to go out with Steve, but I suppose there isn't much risk. I care so much about you, Ann, that I may be getting supersensitive about your safety—and a little jealous, too."

"There is no use for us to quarrel. We have too much in common to break up over this sort of thing. Even if I didn't love you I'd still be your friend," he said.

"Of course," Ann admitted, glad to compromise. "Good-night," He smiled ruefully. "Good-night, dear."

The glorious feeling of freedom, of complete liberty, animated her, raced in her veins. Steve Harrison, his sculptured strength of body apparent despite his ill-fitting serge suit, waited outside, his clean, fresh face lit with pleasure. He was not self-assured; he was impressed, almost overwhelmed with her superiority.

"You're certainly awfully nice to me," he said with a humility that rather amused her. Admiration was no novelty; all of her life men had been admiring Ann, but there was a different quality in the semi-articulate adulation of the uncultured young Hercules.

An instinct told her to ward off the subtle pleasure in the situation . . . but maybe it was a false instinct, an artificial barrier, a tradition of upbringing. She realized that some primeval upheaval might be involved and the disturbing possibility was fraught with an unsettling fascination. It was something that could not be determined mentally; matters like that must be experienced in the realm of feeling and emotion.

The thing was in essence a strange flow of attraction beyond comprehension. Of one thing only was Ann certain. The mystery of her own feelings was so alluring that she knew inevitably she must explore until she found an explanation, a solution.

They didn't go back to the restaurant. With heavy dishes and cheap food between them Ann realized she would be too uncomfortable with a man like Steve Harrison. If they belonged together, even in the slightest degree, it would be an outdoor association, free of the pent-up proximity of shoddy couples at adjoining tables.

"I'm not hungry," she told Steve. "We can talk and think better if we walk."

REGAINS HEALTH AFTER 20 YEARS

"There are Thousands of People Who Need Sargon," Says St. Paul Woman

"For twenty long years I suffered from stomach disorders and indigestion. I took all kinds of medicine and treatments, but nothing did me any real good until I began taking Sargon. I am like a different person now, and I never intend to be without Sargon as long as I live."

The above enthusiastic statement was made a few days ago by Mrs. E. F. Rudolph to the Sargon representative who had learned of her case and called at her beautiful home at 1334 Arcade St., St. Paul, to ascertain the facts.

Mrs. Rudolph is prominent in club and social activities. Continuing her statement she said:

"For years I was on a diet, but even then nearly everything I ate disagreed with me, and caused indigestion, gas and biliousness. I frequently had severe attacks of headaches and dizzy spells. I was so extremely nervous I hardly ever enjoyed a good night's sleep. I became so weak I would play out entirely before I half finished my housework."

"All the money I spent for medicines and treatments was wasted, for instead of helping me, I seemed to be getting worse all the time."

"I was hearing so many good reports about Sargon that I decided to try this medicine. After my first few doses I was delighted to feel an improvement. Now, after taking four bottles I can eat three hearty meals of substantial food every day without feeling any the worse from it."

"I am not nervous in the least, and my sleep is sound and refreshing. I have been wonderfully strengthened and my housework is a pleasure now. I feel better in every way."

"I do not like publicity, but I know there are thousands of people who need Sargon, and I am giving this statement so others may know about the wonderful medicine that has meant so much to me."

Sargon may be obtained in Brainerd from Henry P. Dunn; and in Pequot from A. S. Rasmussen. —Advt

WHAT HAS HAPPENED SO FAR.

JERRY DUNN, star reporter on a large newspaper, meets Ann Tremaine, daughter of a wealthy banker. He convinces her of the emptiness of the life she is leading, and takes her to live at his boarding house. There she is projected into a new world of people. She is immediately attracted to Steve Harrison, a husky young mechanic who aspires to the prize ring, and of whom Jerry is jealous. Ann gets a job as ticket seller in a local theatre owned by Nick Pagalos, and walks home with Steve Harrison. They are waylaid by Maizie Thompson, who accuses Steve of having broken a date with her. The next evening Ann promises to break her appointment with Jerry to that she can see Steve. She tells Jerry she would rather spend the evening with Harrison, and he is furious.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XX.

ANN sensed a vivid tension . . . her heart was beating heavily . . . unhappily.

"Ann, dear, it never happened to me before in my life—but I'm in love. I love you. I'm crazy about you. I loved you the minute I saw you but I didn't know I have just begun to realize it. And I am like any other right-thinking man on earth, I want to protect the girl I love from—"

His arms, despite her struggling, closed around her and she was pressed close to him. His nearness was not hateful—it was meaningless—without sensation.

She lifted her face up and he bent forward as though towards an inevitable kiss but she shook her head. "I don't think even Steve Harrison would do a thing like this," she said coldly. "I am not used to being kissed and embraced against my will and I don't like it, Jerry, let me go, please."

His eyes like steel, but hot with mingled jealousy and desire, blazed in her face and then—slowly his arms relaxed.

"You're right," he said. "If you belong to a roughneck it's just a case of mistaken identity. I thought you were a different kind of a girl."

A tide of rebellion stirred in her. A deep, cutting feeling towards Jerry Dunn existed in her heart but, perversely, there was a surface desire to wound and repel him.

"Good-night," she said frigidly. Jerry stood perfectly still, his arms hanging straight from his sides as though he were controlling himself with an effort. "I have two ideas in mind," he stated slowly. "I can let you go in your own sweet way—or I can stop you."

"Nobody can stop me from doing what I please," she informed him with equal steadiness. "Believe me I'd stop you if I thought you were going out into actual danger," he retorted. "I don't want you to go out with Steve, but I suppose there isn't much risk. I care so much about you, Ann, that I may be getting supersensitive about your safety—and a little jealous, too."

"There is no use for us to quarrel," she said. "We can talk and think better if we walk."

rel. We have too much in common to break up over this sort of thing. Even if I didn't love you I'd still be your friend," he said.

"Of course," Ann admitted, glad to compromise. "Good-night," he smiled ruefully. "Good-night, dear."

The glorious feeling of freedom, of complete liberty, animated her, raced in her veins.

Steve Harrison, his sculptured strength of body apparent despite his ill-fitting serge suit, waited outside, his clean, fresh face lit with pleasure. He was not self-assured; he was impressed, almost overwhelmed with her superiority.

"You're certainly awfully nice to me," he said with a humble smile that rather amused her. Admiration was no novelty; all of her life men had been admiring Ann, but there was a different quality in the semi-articulate adulation of the uncultured young Hercules.

An instinct told her to ward off the subtle measure in the situation, but maybe it was a false instinct, an artificial barrier, a tradition of upbringing. She realized that some primeval upheaval might be involved and the disturbing possibility was fraught with an unsettling fascination. It was something that could not be determined mentally; matters like that must be experienced in the realm of feeling and emotion.

The thing was in essence a strange flow of attraction beyond comprehension. Of one thing only was Ann certain.

The mystery of her own feelings was so alluring that she knew inevitably she must explore until she found an explanation, a solution.

They didn't go back to the restaurant. With heavy dishes and cheap food between them Ann realized she would be too uncomfortable with a man like Steve Harrison. If they belonged to the same degree, it would be an outdoor association, free of the pent-up proximity of shoddy couples at adjoining tables.

"I'm not hungry," she told Steve. "We can talk and think better if we walk."

"I'm not hungry," she told Steve. "We can talk and think better if we walk."

"I'm not hungry," she told Steve. "We can talk and think better if we walk."

"I'm not hungry," she told Steve. "We can talk and think better if we walk."

"I'm not hungry," she told Steve. "We can talk and think better if we walk."

"I'm not hungry," she told Steve. "We can talk and think better if we walk."

"I'm not hungry," she told Steve. "We can talk and think better if we walk."

"I'm not hungry," she told Steve. "We can talk and think better if we walk."

"I'm not hungry," she told Steve. "We can talk and think better if we walk."

"I'm not hungry," she told Steve. "We can talk and think better if we walk."

"I'm not hungry," she told Steve. "We can talk and think better if we walk."

"I'm not hungry," she told Steve. "We can talk and think better if we walk."

"I'm not hungry," she told Steve. "We can talk and think better if we walk."

"I'm not hungry," she told Steve. "We can talk and think better if we walk."

"I'm not hungry," she told Steve. "We can talk and think better if we walk."

"I'm not hungry," she told Steve. "We can talk and think better if we walk."

"I'm not hungry," she told Steve. "We can talk and think better if we walk."

"I'm not hungry," she told Steve. "We can talk and think better if we walk."

By his side she walked, block after block, through the quiet streets; an old part of town where houses, once aristocratic, had fallen into shabby old age.

As he grew used to her company he gained in confidence and the power to express himself.

"You don't like people like me—I can tell it without you saying anything about it," he told her. "You have been used to a higher class of people. It shows all over you. A funny thing—I thought pretty well of myself until you came along. Now you make me feel ignorant all over."

The habit of politeness almost caused her to deny what he had said. But she decided to be fair.

"Maybe you have a heart of gold, but I am used to a little more polish," she admitted. "I don't like rough things and uncouth people. It's all right to be virile and masculine, but a little of the outside gloss goes a long way towards making life, or a man, attractive."

"That's right," he agreed. "You've got my number."

"I hope I have not hurt your feelings."

Anything you say or do is O. K. with me—that's the way I feel about it."

"It doesn't matter what you think about me. It's what you think about yourself that counts."

Ann explained.

"I can't help being interested in you."

"Be interested in yourself."

"That's what I wanted to talk to you about. You know things I never even heard of. If I could only pull myself up to your level. No, I don't mean that. I never could reach your level. But there ought to be a way a guy like me could build himself up so he wouldn't look so terrible among real people."

"You're not too old to reconstruct your life," she said. "It's all a matter of will power. I suppose."

"The trouble with me is I don't know how to start," Steve admitted. "In fact, I never thought much about it before but now it seems like the most important thing in the world. You've got class and—I guess I'm getting ambitious. For one thing I've always made my living with my hands, working with tools. The class people of life don't do that. They use their brains. Me, I don't know whether I got a brain in my head or not. But all of a sudden I got a hunch I want to find out. I'd take less money—do you think I could get a job somewhere that I could use my intelligence?"

Ann had a snug little feeling of being able to confer a great boon. "Yes, I think I can get you the kind of a job."

(To Be Continued.)

Old Folks Need a Mild Laxative

—Not a "Physic"

Most men and women past fifty must give to the bowels some occasional help, else they suffer from constipation. One might as well refuse to aid weak eyes with glasses as to neglect a gentle aid to weak bowels.

Is your present laxative, in whatever form, promoting natural bowel "regularity"—or must you purge and "physic" every day or two to avoid sick headache, dizziness, biliousness, colds, or sour, gassy stomach?

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin helps to establish natural, regular bowel movement even for those chronically constipated. It never gripes, sickens or upsets the system. Besides, it is absolutely harmless and pleasant to take.

Buy a large 60-cent bottle at any store that sells medicine or write "Syrup Pepsin," Monticello, Illinois, for a FREE SAMPLE BOTTLE and just see for yourself.

REGAINS HEALTH AFTER 20 YEARS

"There are Thousands of People Who Need Sargon," Says St. Paul Woman

"For twenty long years I suffered from stomach disorders and indigestion. I took all kinds of medicine and treatments, but nothing did me any real good until I began taking Sargon. I am like a different person now, and I never intend to be without Sargon as long as I live."

The above enthusiastic statement was made a few days ago by Mrs. E. F. Rudolph to the Sargon representative who had learned of her case and called at her beautiful home at 1334 Arcade St., St. Paul, to ascertain the facts.

Mrs. Rudolph is prominent in club and social activities. Continuing her statement she said:

"For years I was on a diet, but even then nearly everything I ate disagreed with me, and caused indigestion, gas and biliousness. I frequently had severe attacks of headaches and dizzy spells. I was so extremely nervous I hardly ever enjoyed a good night's sleep. I became so weak I would play out entirely before I half finished my housework."

"All the money I spent for medicines and treatments was wasted, for instead of helping me, I seemed to be getting worse all the time."

"I was hearing so many good reports about Sargon that I decided to try this medicine. After my first few doses I was delighted to feel an improvement. Now, after taking four bottles I can eat three hearty meals of substantial food every day without feeling any the worse from it."

"I am not nervous in the least, and my sleep is sound and refreshing. I have been wonderfully strengthened and my housework is a pleasure now. I feel better in every way."

"I do not like publicity, but I know there are thousands of people who need Sargon, and I am giving this statement so others may know about the wonderful medicine that has meant so much to me."
